re No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered.

HIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at $\mathcal{L}_{i,2}$, 10s. -a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of London, and over Two hundred and twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

Birmingham Cardiff Biackburn Derby Boiton Devonport Bradford Gateshead Brighton Halifax Bristoi Huddersfield Burnley Huli

Leeds Leicester Liverpool and Birkenhead Manchester and Oldham Salford Middlesbrough

Newcastie-on-Tyne Northampton Nerwich Nottingham Plymouth and Stenehouse

Portsmouth Preston Reading Rochdale St Helens Southampton Sheffleld

South Shields Stockport Sunderland Swansea Walsali Wolverhampton York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory.

Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

... The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, surproved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have nitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mall

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Cazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—
The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scoteman

The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table seecialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer nortion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Sootland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Dally Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—
Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd.,
Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain,
have just issued another annual and
much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . Above all, the paper is fan superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to husiness men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to he without. . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—
Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so hulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastie Chronicle

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The suctents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thos increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool-the two trans-Channel centres most in teuch with the Irish perts. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scoteman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. The now edition has been theroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpeol and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and these give a mere general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time age a handsomely-bound "Directory for age a nanosomery-to-ind Directory for Ireland "for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and order of the land of the Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for husiness purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the velume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be neted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpeel and Glasgew, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought theroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.
The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

It is a desirable work of reference in business centies, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow end Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is vory correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irleh Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabe-tical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, ship-pers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The werk reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mall

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly te the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

MACDONALD'S

ENCLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

HIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition)...

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is deveted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim. as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its perpertions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes-the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary-and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of unwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messra William Macdonald & Oo , Ltd... have reissued their "English Directory amended and extended to include the latest information. The hook, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to sneak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of orest care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.-We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over occo pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact. we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Beifast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should he so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

HIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, ros. -a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of LONDON, and over Two hundred and twenty Subnrban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and. Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

Birmingham Cardiff Blackburn Derby Boiton Bradford Brighton Hallfax Bristol

Burnley

Leeds Lelcester Devonport Liverpool and Gateshead Birkenhead Manchester and Oldham Huddersfield Salford Middlesbrough

Newcastle-on-Tyne Northampton Norwich Nottingham Plymouth and Stonehouse

Portsmouth Preston Reading Rochdale St Helens Southampton Sheffleld

South Shields Stockport Sunderland Swansea. Walsall Wolverhampton

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

MACDONALD'S

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetter, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, ros.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is deveted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Dally Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to c'aim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its perportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beantfully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carcfully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contain an immense amount of information greatfully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of unwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact. we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind We have no doubt that published. they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should he so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of conrse, greatly to its high value.

MACDONALD'S

English Directory and Gazetteer.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY.-The steady expansion of "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has rendered it necessary to divide the new and revised edition just published into two portly volumes, each of which comprises considerably more than three thousand pages. This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, sub-divided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that nust have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is enfliciently obvious.

Daily Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guidato the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought ont and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convenient.

Lioyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is te give authentic lists of persons in professions. trades, and businesses in upwards of four thousand towns and cities of England. Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Licensed Victualiers' Gazette (London)

In two large volumes, of semething over 6000 pages in all, and each of the familiar size of the London Directory, here is a complete trade directory of England and Wales. The reviewer, at present staying in a shall seaside place on the south coast, has personally verified its local exactness, and has not a fault to find. The work is a model of nainetaking, and gives the trader the gist, in commercial matters, of all the town and county directories

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. It is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price to nonsubscribers is f.4, and even at such a price must be considered very cheap.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The nublishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of business, their "Irish" Directory being in its twelfth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in ite ecventeenth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of capital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. A section for banks and a capital gazetteer are appended. There are various maps, and no pains seem to have been spared in making the Directory complete, comprehensive, and trustworthy. In brief, it presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherte only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

Weekly Dispatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and reognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referee (London)

Mannfacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Walcs. As a commercial guide "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" must be invaluable to all traders.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A COLOSSAL DIRECTORY.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be productions. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory. The work is revised annually, and every effort is made by the publishers to ensure its accuracy.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKELEERS."-In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and menchants in touch with likely customers it. England. Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form, represents the labour of several years, and that the large additions to the issue of 1800 (about 8co pages) necessitated the division of the book into two volumes. area covered is so wide and the changes and additions so constant that, to our mind, it is only a question of time to see another division and a third volume. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, and Manchester.

The Law Journal (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" contains a remarkable amount of information of interest to the commercial classes.

The Anglo-American (London)

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—The work will be of great service to merchants and manufacturers. It is erident that Messrs Macdonald & Co. have put forth every possible effort, regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work. The result is that they have produced what they instly claim to be the largest directory in the English language.

The ironmonger (London)

The attempt to include within two volumes (portly though they undoubtedly are), the data relating to the general trades of the whole of England is a bold one, but on the whole the experiment may be considered fairly successful. Naturally the publishers do not pretend to give every village or small township in the land, but all places of a few thousand inhabitants seem to have been noticed, and for busy people with limited library accommodation it is a distinct advantage to have information of this kind in two instead of. sav. twenty volumes. The type is bold and clear, and the general arrangement convenient for rapid reference.

The Meat Trades Journal (London)

A Wonderful Book.—These two massive volumes represent the best attempt yet made to give in directory form a comprehensive work embracing England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man.

Liverpool Mercury

A GREAT TRADES DIRECTORY.—One of the most valuable works of reference to commercial houses is an accurate and comprehensive trades directory. Such is provided by Messrs Win. Macdonald, & Co., Ld., who have just issued a new and considerably-enlarged edition of their "English Directory and Gazetteer." The whole work embraces authentic lists of the professions, trades and businesses of some 4000 cities. towns, and villages in England, Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Thus it will be seen that the scope of the work is as wide as it well could be. As regards its accuracy, it need only he said that agents are sent annually to all the places of importance to verify the statements given.

Manchester Courler

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has now reached its fifteenth year of publication. It is the largest directory in the English language, and contains the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants, traders, brokers, agents, dealers, and others connected with British trade and commerce. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Manchester Guardian

Amongst the continually increasing and more and more complex trade directories published, a very prominent place must be given to "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer."
The work is in two volumes, each containing about 3000 pages, and its general character may be indicated by the statement that the publishers claim that it is the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England. Com. mercial travellers and the issuers of trade circulars may well be grateful for what is provided for them. Reference is facilitated by coloured edges of the nages, with the names of towns and so on printed thereon. The work is s marvel of enterprise, and is likely to prove exceptionally useful to a multitude of specialist producers and distributors.

Birmingham Daliy Gazette

As the only Trades Directory which embraces the whole of England, this work will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants whose business relations extend all over the country. Bitherto they have been compelled to purchase a number of books to enable them to keep in touch with their distant sustomers, and the want of a comprehensive work has been strongly felt. To meet this urgent need has been the object of the compilers of these weights volumes, which will be found invaluable in every merchant's office, saving time, space, and money.

The African Review (London)

These penderous volumes contain a mass of information giving in a complete form a directory of the trades and traders of the whole kingdom. It claims to be the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. In any case, it is admirably printed, and so well arranged that anyone can glean from it the information he requires with a minimum of trouble.

Leeds Mercury

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—"Macdonald's English Directory" is a gigantic work in two volumes, the two forming a load for an office-boy. It is a gazetteer as well. By a simple plan, reference is made easy to any part of the contents. So far as we can judge by towns we know, great care has been bestowed unon the preparation of these great valumes, which are brought as near to date as possible. For such a mass of information, the price (£4) must be regarded as very moderate.

The Yorkshire Post (Leeds)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" appears this vear in two huge volumes of over 6000 pages. Completeness and accuracy throughout such a colossal work are of course impossible, but the greatest care has evidently been taken to reach both, and it hears, as well as most directories of smaller scope, the test of local knowledge. It is intended especially for traders having business relations in all narts of the country, who, without it, would be obliged to burden their offices with a large number of directories.

Sheffleid Dally Telegraph

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 comprises two enormous volumes. The true test of anv directory is to turn up your own town and other places with which you are familiar. Tried by this test, we have found Macdonald's Directory remarkably accurate. Although in several of the trades it is not so comprehensive as a local work would be, it is comprehensive enough for all practical purposes. In its particulars of rural districts in our immediate neighbourhood it is also quite relible.

Sheffield Independent

The two bulky volumes that comnrise this publication must be a veritable godsend to merchants and manufacturers whose business relations extend all over the country. For itcontains alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, traders, and shippers in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres throughout England, and, moreover, is so capitally arranged, so clearly printed, and so firmly bound as to render the task of reference to its pages easy and nrofitable.

Bradford Daily Telegraph

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, London, and Dublin, have issued a trade directory that embraces the whole of England. There are two huge volumes. The directory in its present form represents the work of many years, and the expenditure of a large amount of capital. The Gazetteer has been greatly extended, and will be found invaluable for commercial reference.

Western Dally Press (Bristol)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—A work consisting of two volumes, and containing about three thousand pages in each volume, may fairly be described as a marvellous enterprise. The work is clearly divided, the first volume being made up of a trades' directory of London and over two hundred suburban districts, and a separate trades' directory for each of the principal provincial cities and towns, of which about forty are dealt with; while the second volume is devoted to all other towns, with villages of importance. A handy gazetteer is given, which contributes to the completeness of an undertaking of colossal proportions.

Newcastle Chronicle

We have not had this huge volume placed upon the scales, but it is of great avoirdapois, though not beyond the lifting strength of a well-nourished office boy. This valuable book is now heing issued in two volumes, the second one alone containing some three thousand pages. It is a trade directory of the entire kingdom, and is invaluable for manufacturers and merchants who wish to see at a glance the names of the persons in any town or village engaged in any particular profession, trade, or business.

Western Mail (Cardiff)

The compilation of a trades directory for the whole of England and Wales must have involved an amount of work and organisation calculated to deter any but the most sanguine and enthusiastic of men from embarking on a task of such magnitude. Nevertheless, the work has been accomplished, and we have now before us two bulky volumes representing the edition for 1000. A more useful book of reference for merchants, manufacturers, and traders, of every description cannot well be imagined. A map of England and street maps of London and the principal provincial towns are included, and a section of the book is devoted to a gazetteer.

South Wales Daily News (Cardiff)

The work is divided into two stupendous volumes of over 3000 pages each, strongly bound, and admirably indexed. In order to indicate the enormous range of the information given in the directory, it may be mentioned that it includes authentic lists of the professions, tredes, and businesses of upwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man. the Channel Islands, and a concise gazetteer of England and Wules, giving a great deal of useful information.

Weston Mercury and Somersetshire Herald (Weston-Super-Mare)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 compiled by William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., is one of the most comprehensive works that has ever been issued.

SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.

BRITISH, COLONIAL, AND FOREIGN MERCANTILE GUIDE,

This Section, added at the solicitation of many of our Subscribers, has been much appreciated, as it forms a most useful Guide to Buyers, and more so in consequence of many leading and influential firms having inserted particulars of their various specialities, under the several classifications or trade headings, rendering it more serviceable than a mere list of names.

This Section is compiled without any pretentions to completeness, it being necessary to make a nominal (but necessary) charge for inserting names, to enable us to continue to issue the work at a popular price, so that its extensive circulation should not be impaired.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY .-The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland.

The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

The book is practi-cally a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

" Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections deveted to the cities of Glasgew and Lverpool-the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Glasgow Herald

. The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and these give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind over published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpeel and Glasgew, the cities which have the most excensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, amproved, and brought theroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Derry Journal

It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

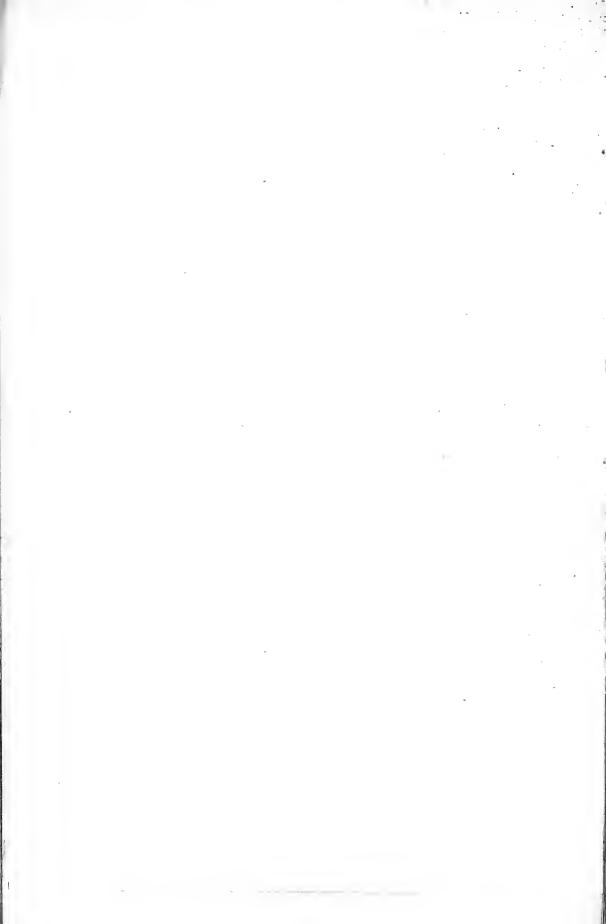

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabe-tical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, ship-pers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

CLUNY, Fife., ham., Kinglassie par. CLYDE, one of the largest rivers of Scotland, rising in the south part of Lanarkshire, and forming an arm of the sea, called the Firth of Clyde, near the castle of Dumbarton. It becomes navigable at the city of Glasgow. The first boat in Europe successfully propelled by steam was launched on this river in 1812; and since then the river's shipping and shiphuilding have both grown enormously. Near Lanark the river descends from 560 to 200 feet, farming the celebrated Falls of Clyde, above which flows a beautiful trout stream, passing through a fertile valley amid lovely scenery. The waters become more sluggish and polluted as it nears Glasgow, and large sums of money have been spent in improving and deepening the channel from Glasgow to Dumbarton, with great success. Along the ancient sea-margin of the river is an almost continuous line of watering-places, much frequented during the summer months

Among the numerous valleys intersected through the county the most noted is Strathmore, which extends beyond the county, and is celebrated for its beauty and fer-tility. The rivers are the North and South Esk, the Isla. and several smaller streams. All the ordinary crops are grown; it has also important fisheries, large quantities of salmon being sent to London. The minerals include limestone, perphyry, jasper, many varieties of pebbles, and cairn-germs. A number of vessels are also engaged in the whale fisheries. GLASGOW, the commercial manufacturing capital of Scotland, and, in aggregate importance, the second city in the empire. Situate on the Clyde, and 472 miles by rail from Edinburgh. Is the political capital of Lanarkshire, a royal and parliamentary burgh, a university city, seat of justiciary and sheriff courts, and a head port. Originated from the cathedral founded about A.D. 560; was made a royal burgh in 1180; and was but a small burgh of limited extent in 1550. and continued prosperity-entirely the result of enterprise and skill in manufacturers and commerce-only dates from last century. Its present vast predominance testifies to the vitality and energy of its citizens. In the fifty years between 1831 and 1881 it considerably more than trebled its population, and now, including snburbs, measures 6 miles by $4\frac{1}{2}$, and 18 of such magnitude that space will not admit here of even a meagre description. The public buildings are both numerous and handsome, and include many very interesting and noble structures. The Cathedral, the University, the Merchants' House, the General Post Office, and the Royal Exchange, may be men-tioned. The Municipal buildings recently erected cost about £500,000, including £165,000 paid for the site. The charitable institutions are many, the most important being the Royal Infirmary, Western Infirmary, Fever Hospitals, Small-pex Hospital, Ma-ternity Hospital, Asylum for the Blind, Deaf and Dumb Institute, Lunatic Asylum, &c. It has various scientific and literary institutions, including a museum and two public libraries, also a Royal Botanic Garden, several public parks and many monuments-no fewer than 11 standing in George Square. The Churches are Established, United Free, Episcopal, Baptist, Evangelical Union, Congregational, Wesleyan, Roman Catholic, Catholic Apostolic, Methodist, Christadelphian, Original Secession, Unitarian, Plymouth Brethren, Society of Friends, Ohristian Brethren, and a Jewish Synagogue.-The harbour shared in the prosperity of the city, and by extensions from time to time, necessitated by increasing trade, acquired its present greatness at a cost of over £11,000,000. In 1801 the quayage of the harbour was only 382 yards in length, the water area 4 acres; the revenue from the harbour and river £3400 In 1898 the length of the quayage was eight miles, the water area 2052 acres, and the revenue £410,034. For about 21 miles from Glasgow Bridge the river presents the appearance of an immense dock, and is deep enough for the largest sea-going ships. The har-bour possesses all the appliances of a first-class port, and is connected with the whole railway system of the kingdom. The expert, import, coasting trades are enormous. sailings of steamers see list of Shipping Offices. Pop. (1901) 571,569 GLASS, Aber. and Banff., par. Ac and South Uists are the principal islands. These are very much diversified as regards scenery-that of Skye and other islands of the Inner

Hehrides being the grandest scenery perhaps in Scotland; the scenery of Lewis and other islands of the Outer

Hobrides is less picturesque, but a peculiar feature of these is the immense number of fresh water locks scattered everywhere, and yielding some of the hest salmon and trout fishing in Scotland. Most of the islands are extensively intersected by inlets and arms of the sea, affording safe and sheltered anchorage. Lords of the Isles and the Insular Chiefs of the various turbulent clans have left numerous monuments of their ambition and their rule, in the form of towers and castles; and the remains of the religious establish-ments testify to the Christian zeaf and SUTHERLANDSHIRE, a county, ex-tending across the whole breadth of Scotland, from the North Sea to the Atlantic Ceean. It is bounded on the west by the Minch, north by the Northern Ocean, east by the county of Caithness, south-east by the Dornoch Firth, and south by the Oickel and several smaller streams, which separates it from the county of Ross and Cromarty. The surface of the county is rugged and mountainous, except on the south-east shere. The eastern district, near the German Ocean, consists of a strip of level land which runs along the coast side; the middle or central district, resembles the other parts of the Highlands of Scotland, it contains the valleys of the rivers of Helmsdale, Brora, Fleet, and Oickel with their tributary streams issuing from the neighbouring mountains.

The shores herdering the Atlantic are wild, rocky, and mountainous. Assynt Mountains are huge and harren, but the glens between afford excellent pasture for sheep. On the coasts of the numerous bays many tracts of land have been brought under cultivation, but the climate, from the constant rain and mists, is unfavourable to the growth of crops. principal rivers are the Oickel, which enters the Firth of Dornoch, and is navigable for about 12 miles from its mouth, the Water of Fleet, the Water of Brora, the Water of Helmsdale, the Water of Halldale, the Water of Strathy, the Naver, the Waters of Kendoch, Hope, Dionard, and Eribol. There are also lakes, the chief being Loch Assynt, Loch Elphin, Loch Leighal, Loch More, and Loch Shin, the last of which stretches 20 miles northwest to sonth-east, is about one mile broad and abounds with salmon and trout. There are extensive deer forests, and abundance of all kinds of The Duke of Sutherland is the largest landowner. The minerals include rock crystals, pebbles, and garnets. WIGTOWNSHIRE, a county, bounded on the east by Kirkculbrightshire, south and west by the Irish Sea, and north by Ayrshire. The county is irregular and deeply indented by Loch Ryan and Luce Bay, which forms the Rhinns of Galloway (q.v.) The richest lands lie near the coast and on the banks of the rivers. The rising grounds in the east through the parish of Wigtown and the lower parts of Penningham are for the most part fit for tillage The peniusula, called the Rhinns, is also good arable land. The hills in this part of the county rise to a considerable height, and act as a barrier against the westerly winds. The north districts called the Moors are bleak and hilly; they occupy nearly one-half of the county, and contain only a few patches of arable land. The principal rivers are the Cree, the Bladenock, the Tarff, the Lnce, and others. The climate is mild and others. The chief crops are oats and humid. barley, also wheat, potatoes, and turnips. MACDONALD'S

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Dally Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its perportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotaman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macconald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of unwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man. and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The

The Dally Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The hook, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to sneak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900 .- We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind We have no doubt that published. they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1000 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly hound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool-the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ire-land. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of in the volume. great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.
The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that conconsiderably appreciation in that con-rection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, ship-pers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

MACDONALD'S

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Leicester Dally Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Dally Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year ishers porportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully erranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macconald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and cooveniently-arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of newards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messra William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of preat care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messia Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good atyle. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of aections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited. Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

... The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. .. A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time age a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgew are new included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpeol and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, unproved, and brought theroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects mych credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mall

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of London, and over Two hundred and twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory

Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble

and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

1Royal

Society

Prevention of Cruelty to Animals,

105 JERMYN STREET, LONDON, S.W.

Patrons—

HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY THE QUEEN. THEIR R.H. THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

President-

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF YORK.

THE Education Committee of the Society earnestly appeal to clergymen and ministers of every religious denomination to bring before their schools and congregations the claims of animals. To cultivate kindness of heart towards inferior creatures is to prepare for the more easy introduction of Christianity.

The Committee are advised that the Fourth Sunday after Trinity is a suitable day for pleading the cause of the lower animal creation in the Church of England; because, (1) of the appropriateness of the Collect on that day; (2) in the Epistle to the Romans viii. 18, we shall read that "the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now"; and (3) in the Gospel of Luke vi. 36, we shall read that we are commanded to be "merciful, as our Father also is merciful." Any time is suitable, however, and this remark applies particularly to Nonconformist Churches of all denominations, where it is desirable to plead the cause of the Society, which is neither sectarian nor political.

Upon this Institution, founded in 1824 (the only one having for its object the protection of dumb and defenceless animals), rests a heavy responsibility. It is earnestly and respectfully submitted, that it has in consequence a strong claim upon the benevolence of the humane and charitable.

The Committee respectfully appeal to the Public to extend a hearty assistance,—

- I. By supplying early information to the Secretary of all acts of cruelty that have been witnessed.
- II. By increasing the revenue of the Society by annual subscriptions, by donations, by testamentary gifts, and particularly by inducing their friends to become members.

Trained officers are despatched to all parts of the Kingdom. Upwards of 7,500 convictions obtained annually.

The increased operations of the Society have drawn from the funds an amount vastly exceeding the yearly subscriptions. The Committee need much greater assistance, and unless such additional support be extended to them, this most righteous cause of humanity must suffer from insufficiency of means to carry out those many urgent measures which every well-wisher of this Society has so deeply at heart. Remittances may be forwarded to JOHN COLAM, Secretary.

SUPPORTED ONLY BY VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS.

The labour of other Charities is divided among many Associations; but this Charity stands alone—the Defender of the Defenceless—without any assistant.

METAL POLISH.

Largest Sale of any GENUINE British-made

Advantages of "Yewsabit."

- 1. It will not turn metals green if any should happen to be left on the metal by accident—thereby showing that there is absolutely no acid used in the composition.
- 2. It will keep sweet for any length of time. We do not use artificial scents in order to cover the smell of rancid oils.
- 3. It will keep moist for an indefinite period.
- 4. Metals cleaned and polished with "Yewsabit" will last longer bright (and marvellously bright, too), than if cleaned by any other means known.
- 5. Brass, Copper, Silver, or in fact any metal, will be not only cleaned but burnished if "Yewsabit" be used a bit.
- 6. The smallest possible quantity suffices, and therefore one tin of "Yewsabit" will go as far as THREE tins of German make.
- 7. A handsome Bonus is given to all Tradesmen who do not cut the Price below our fixed minimum rates.

We are the largest MANUFACTURERS of Metal Polish in the Kingdom. Our reputation is worth too much to us to exaggerate our position.

ATENT

THE Patentees beg to call the attention of Cotton Spinners and others to their Patent Carding Can, and to point out that the great defect in the manufacture of the same hitherto has been the tendency to bulge or fracture immediately above the binder, owing to their hard, careless use, hence the exponse in repairs, their canting or loss of perpendicularity.

The Patentecs are confident they have remedied the defect referred to, by the invention of their Patent Solid Bottom, which, being pressed out of a square sheet of 16s W.G. Siemens' steel, not only acts as binder and ring combined, but the elongation of the four corners of the steel sheet (see section) strengthen and support the weakest portion of the Can, thus overcoming the objections referred to, and adding years to the life of the same.

In addition to the above improvement, the Can is passed through a Patent Embossing Machine, which gives it treble the strength of the ordinary Can; and it is also provided with a Patent Grooved Top Ring, the top of the Can being swaged into the said groove, which renders the ring almost immovable.

Notwithstanding its recent introduction, this Can is on its trial in upwards of three hundred mills, repeat orders having been received from many of them, and we solicit a trial order that its durability and finish may be compared with any other Carding Can in the market.

The members of the firm of W P Thompson & Co. are all Practical Engineers, and have a thorough knowledge of the Patent Laws, both English and Foreign. They are thus able to bring to bear upon inventions brought before them a thorough Practical, Technical, and Legal knowledge, which is placed at the service of clients in advising them with reference to their Patents or Inventions, and in drafting the Specifications for Patents.

The Inventor's attendance in Manchester, Liverpool, or London is not necessary, as all business can be done by correspondence. W. P. T. & Co. are, however, always glad to have personal interviews with their clients.

Inventors at a distance wishing to patent an invention, should send full description of it, with drawing, sketch, or model. Carriage of models, &c., must, however, be prepaid.

MÖLLER'S LAGER BEER

Is a delicious luxury that all can afford to buy, because of its reasonable price. That it is the lightest and best Beer to drink has never been denied by any competent judge; and its lightness enables persons to whom a glass of English Beer is denied to slake their thirst with this genuine Lager Beer, without fear of after-effects, on account of the small quantity of alcohol it contains.

WAX TORCHES OF FLAMBEAUX

T. C. BARLOW, Glasgow, begs to draw attention to his newly invented WAX TORCHES which burn with a large flame, speciality for Torch-light Processions, and are specially suitable for the use of Fire Brigades, Military and Gymnastic Clubs, Railways, Army, Town Authorities, Masonic, Students, and other Processions. &c., &c.

As is well known, the Pitch Torches let fall during their use red-hot drops and burning particles of tow, and they give out a very objectionable smoke which damages clothes, flags, and decorations, besides being troublesome to both carriers and spectators.

These inconveniences are not to be found with the torches manufactured by T. C. BARLOW from Wax. They burn with a clear high-flickering flame which withstands strong winds and rain, they drip hardly at all, and are pleasant in appearance and do not soil when in use.

The price of the Wax Torches does not exceed that for Pitch or Resin Torches, and have superior brilliancy, and burn a longer time if a fine night.

No. 1 burns l_2^1 to 2 hours.

No. 2, 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

No. 3, $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 hours.

Price 1/- each. Price 2/- each. Price 2/- each.

Therefore, for every purpose where a bright easily portable light is required, such as Torch-light Processions, Picnics, Railway Service, Open-air Works, Barges, Sledging Parties, and Ice Sports, T. C. Barlow can thoroughly recommend the employment of his newly invented Wax Torch specially for Masonic Processions.

At the same time T. C. BARLOW would mention his "VAUXHALL," or

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Messrs William Macdenald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgew firms, and these give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Beifast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been theroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all these business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to mer-chants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that conrection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphahetical and classified lists of the principal merchante, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.—
The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotaman

'The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the mformation. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Dally Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult teets to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

The Directory, which has over roop pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Sootland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Dally Record

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.—
Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd.,
Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain,
have just issued another annual and
much-enlarged edition of their practical,
useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is fan superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scouland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Grazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have heen added. . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evoning Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . It contains all the information which a husiness man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

iron (London)

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.— Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not as hulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great eare has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their lanrels. . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ally carried out, and should be welcomed hy commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work— a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is devoted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its proportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, earefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of unwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd.. have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to socak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of preat care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900 .- We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1000 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised lahour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.
